Here is the statement and ID attached.

Ian is a great friend of mine. I met Ian and Elin when I was in college and was able to watch as they developed their friendship into a dating relationship and eventually engagement/marriage. It was such a fun season because my wife and I were in very similar seasons as them. We started dating around the same time they did and it was a blast to have that season together. I was able to be in their wedding and it was a beautiful ceremony centered around the couple. They have always put God first in their life and prioritized community. I can totally vouch for the genuine relationship they have together.
